Mission/Objective

The Young Professional Forum, YPF, is made up of passionate engineering professionals under the age of 35 employed by consulting firms that belong to the Consulting Engineers South Africa, CESA. The YPF was started in 2004 to encourage young people to pursue a career in engineering and also allows the youth to network and support each other. The South Gauteng branch of the YPF aims to continue this mission and also aims to give back to the community by hosting events to educate school going children about the benefits of engineering on a whole and as a career.

Coming up....

Watch this space for more details.....

Cheesekids

Cheesekids is an NGO that put together those people that need help with those people that want to help. They host various events from gardening to mentoring and everything in between. This is a great initiative for those of us that want to give back but don't know how. For more information check out www.cheesekids.org.za

They host various programmes throughout the year and the YPF would like to make this a regular event
